

September 2021.

Getting a reservation at that place was almost impossible, but I got it. Everybody in town has been speaking about this place, no wonder why it was so busy when I arrived for dinner.

There was too much going on in that place, and each of my senses was welcomed since I opened the main door. From the lady behind the bar making cocktails to the gentleman that took my order; every member of the staff seemed confident that my experience there was going to be unforgettable - and they were not wrong.

A simple menu, excellent selection of drinks...

The kitchen was working with the precision of machines and the passion of humans. There were spices that I have never seen before and condiments that I don't even know their names. They were flying from here to there.

I sat down with scepticism, waiting with impatience, but the ring of a bell soon brought back my excitement.

The plate in front me was more beautiful than any art piece hanging in any museum in this city, or this country. Invaded by curiosity I dug into my plate, and the rest was indescribable.

My experience in this place can not be put into words, you must hear it with your own ears.